Breakfast with Tone Wheeler

Featuring internationally acclaimed environmentally sustainable design (ESD) expert, Tone Wheeler.

Tone Wheeler is an architect, author, educator and consultant with an avid interest in environmental architecture and sustainable design. He is also the principal and founder of the award winning Environa Studio which is widely recognised as a leading innovative ESD architectural practice.

Tone has been involved in the planning of whole suburbs, the reuse of existing warehouse buildings and completed designs for major environmental residential and tourism projects.

ESD features are now appearing prominently in mainstream developments with excellent bottom line and community outcomes. Better understand how environment design can fit into the broader planning of your next development.

This keynote address will include a critical review of federal and state government policy and the incentives accessible at both developer and occupier levels and the impact these will have on the industry in the next 10 to 15 years.

This breakfast event will be followed by a 2-hour Sustainable Design Intensive led by Tone Wheeler. To register for the workshop, please download the registration form from the UDIA website (www.udiaqld.com.au).
